TTE 2014 – Kuala Lumpur

HLAF 1st Workshop on Technology Transfer Experiences
- Successes & Failures

9 - 10 June 2014

Call for Participation

TTE 2014 – Kuala Lumpur is the first in a series of biennial workshops that brings together those that have technology to offer and those that need new technology along with professionals in technology transfer to discuss current development and future perspectives of technology transfer in developing countries. The workshop will be held in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia on 9 – 10 June 2014.

The TTE 2014 invites global experts in the technology transfer to share their successful and unsuccessful experiences from the different fields of technology.

The main objective of the TTE 2014 is to provide a platform for direct interaction and exchange of experiences between technology providers and technology users. In this, we expect to discuss solutions to pressing questions of the technological gap that developing countries are experiencing. We expect to initiate discussion on the issues:

- what are the experiences of the providers and receivers of technology
- is industry able to absorb available scientific and innovative achievements
- are technology providers able to provide holistic solution
- the appropriate science and technology policy to utilize comparative advantages
- what are the solutions to overcome the challenges and obstacles in technology transfer
- the key issues in technology transfer funding

Submission :

The working language of the workshop is English. Submit your contribution including title, authors and affiliations for our evaluation. Contributions should not exceed 10 pages in appropriate format. All final submissions will be available in the Workshop Proceedings. Selected contribution will be later printed in the book after the Workshop.
